

PINEWOOD DERBY . . . This will be the scene Sunday when Cub Scout Pack 240 of Waleria holds its annual Pinewood Derby at Waleria Park. Events are scheduled to start at noon. Craig Gibson is defending champion, having won in each of the past two years.

Pinewood Derby Slated By Cub Scout Pack 240

Craig Gibson is the man to beat Sunday when Cub Scout Pack 240 stages its annual Pinewood Derby at Waleria Park. Young Gibson will be out to win his third consecutive derby when the cars start to roll. He won both speed and looks categories last year and was the speed winner the previous year.

The Annual Pinewood Derby is scheduled to begin at noon Sunday at the park. A bake sale will be conducted by mothers of the boys at the same time.

There also has been a rumor or two going around the Waleria area that the mothers would stage a race of their own once the boys have cleared the track. A spokesman for the moms refused, however, to comment.

Work Program Expanded For Welfare Recipients

A two-year-old program of putting welfare recipients to work on construction projects has been expanded to include minor road and street repairs, Supervisor Kenneth Hahn said today.

Two years ago, Hahn spearheaded development of the Community Work and Training Program in Los Angeles County which now involves more than 1,000 welfare recipients. The program saves taxpayers more than $1 million a month, Hahn said.

Under the program, able-bodied recipients assist public agencies in various projects and learn skills essential to obtain private employment.

HUNDREDS of recipients have been placed in jobs because of this program and have been removed from the welfare rolls.

Hahn recently called for further expansion of the project and initiated in his district a pilot program of having recipients work with road crews in the repair and replacement of broken sidewalks and curbs.

Study Urged Of Group's Membership

BECAUSE OF its success, supervisors this week voted welfare recipients will now receive on-the-job training in the actual construction of concrete sidewalk in certain key areas of Los Angeles County which most need the repairs.

"I am pleased with this realistic approach to training men for good jobs while at the same time providing a service to the taxpayers," Hahn said.

A re-evaluation of the structure of the Local Agency Formation Commission has been urged by Supervisor Kenneth Hahn to "assure all citizens that the commission provides the most efficient and fair method possible for dealing with annexations and incorporations."

Hahn has called for a study of the membership structure of the commission and a review of state laws. The move was adopted by the Board of Supervisors by unanimous vote.

The supervisor said the present formation of the commission allows elected officials of a particular city to vote on actions "which directly affect their city and its plans." The result, he said, is a loss of confidence of the commission's objectivity.
